- “Cedar and Bamboo”

A film by Kamala Todd and Diana Leung explores the inter-community histories and shared experiences of Chinese Canadians and First Nations through the stories of the mixed heritage descendants. The younger generation is drawing strength from the proud pasts of their elders, and they’re choosing to take the best of both worlds.

- “1788”

A short companion piece film provides academic commentary on the history between the Chinese and First Nations in BC.
